Chinese Press Bitter

(By The Associated Press)

A bitter Chinese press cried "another Munich" today in describing the new acknowledgment by Great Britain that Japanese troops in China have "special requirements" for "maintaining public order in the regions under their control."

And, despite her concessions to the Japanese viewpoint, Britain's troubles appeared to increase in North China. British Foreign Secretary Lord Halifax told the House of Lords yesterday in announcing the British-Japanese agreement that he expected anti-British agitation would cease as a result, but instead new British-Japanese friction arose.

In Shanghai Britain's consular general protested to the Japanese consular general against detention of the British staff of the international settlement's public health department by police of the Japanese-dominated Shanghai municipality.

The British and 100 Chinese employees of the health department were reported being held for payment of arrears for garbage-dumping privileges.

Boycoff Tightens

And at Peking the Japanese-sponsored political party Hsinminhul sent instructions out through four northern provinces to tighten anti-British boycotts and demonstrations, and the organization planned a widespread campaign throughout China to attack British interests.

Southward, at Canton, the Japanese consul notified consular authorities of Britain, the United States and other foreign nations that the Japanese navy at midnight tomorrow will close the Canton river for two weeks for "military reasons." The move was reported to be a blockade to cut shipping between British Hongkong and Canton.

At home Britain had trouble in the threat of further Irish republican army sabotage and terrorism. It was disclosed the government has 5,000 suspects under daily and night surveillance in preparation for a lightning suppression of any possible outbreaks.

Britain kept her continental preparedness measures keen with a flight of 240 bombing planes and 1,000 men over France as the first units of the largest mass training flight in British military history.

Intense flared in remote Antarctica as the Argentine press emphasized Argentine claims to sovereignty in certain of the southern polar regions. It was believed the Argentine government may try for a share in Antarctic partition and possibly oppose any extension of the Monroe Doctrine in Antarctica.

In Moscow Soviet Russia's naval commissar warned Russia's naval "neighbor"—Japan—that the Soviet union had become a naval power, with more submarines than any other country in the world, more than Japan and Germany together. He declared the Russian Pacific fleet was "fully prepared to defend the fatherland."

Treasury Receipts

Washington, July 25 (AP)—The position of the treasury July 22: Receipts $2,927,413.63; expenditures $2,103,186.88; net balance $2,672,968,428.90; working balance $1,989,206,027.26; customs receipts for the month $13,461,342.21; receipts for fiscal year (July 1), $214,931,621.58; expenditures $629,880,398.85; excess of expenditures $414,948,777.27; gross debt $40,623,834,945.84; increase over previous day $2,484,206.66; gold assets $16,214,728,820.34.

Will Attend Opening WPA Officials Will Be Present at Police Field Day and Formal Exercises as Stadium Is Dedicated Saturday Afternoon, July 29

WPA officials headed by State Administrator Lester W. Herzog will attend the police department field day Saturday afternoon which marks the opening of Kingston Municipal Stadium.

Mr. Herzog will be accompanied by William B. Daley, Area 4 director, Philip McCarr, supervisor of operations, of Albany, Arthur F. Hallinan, Ulster county superintendent of construction, and other federal officials. They will join with Mayor Conrad J. Heiselman and city officials in an informal program during the afternoon. Details are now being worked out by the mayor.

The new municipal stadium contains 12 and a half acres bounded by North Front street and Joy's Lane in the northwest part of this city, and adjoining the county quarry. Most of the stadium property had long been unused and waste land. It gives this city its first real recreational field available to public schools, various athletic organizations and the general public.

The grandstand is of brick and concrete structure 246x43 feet with a seating capacity of 2,100. Underneath are dressing rooms, showers and toilet facilities for both men and women. In fact it is a complete modern fieldhouse even to heating plant and facilities for hot water. Construction makes it usable the entire year.

Directly in front of the grandstand is the baseball diamond and football field, both encircled by a quarter-mile cinder track. Ample parking space is located along two sides of the big field. The entire area has been landscaped. Tennis courts and play areas for small children are yet to be constructed.

With Cooper's Lake 6 1/2 feet below normal water mark today the need of conservation of the city's water supply daily becomes more apparent. The lake now contains approximately 700,000,000 gallons of water.

All of Kingston's water supply is now furnished by Cooper's Lake, and the streams that feed the lake are reported practically dry at the present time, owing to the drought that has gripped the city and county since the first of May.

Householders Warned
The situation has become so serious that the water department has limited the hours of sprinkling to two hours a day each evening, between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock.

At the water department office in the city hall today it was stated that the majority of residents of the city were cooperating with the department in the conservation of water, but that there were still a few householders who persisted in sprinkling longer than the hours permitted.

If the practice is continued it is expected that the water department will take drastic steps and shut off the water supply to the houses where water is being wasted.

Seeks Location
The mayor said that a representative of a concern manufacturing electric switch boxes and employing 50 men at good wages was anxious to locate in Kingston, but there was no available building in which to house them.

With the leasing of the old F. & D. factory there was left in the city only the former Fisher plant, which was half gutted by fire, and the property is so tied up in legal procedure that it is impossible to either purchase or lease it.

The concern that it is expected will locate in the F. & D. building was interested in Kingston. The mayor said that some time ago James C. Hamilton, an employee of the U. S. Lacey Curtains Mills, called at his office in the city hall and informed him that the concern was seeking another location and might be interested in Kingston.

Outlines Procedure
The mayor got in touch with Allan L. Hanstein, chairman of the Mayor's Industrial Committee, who outlined the steps that were taken to bring the new industry to Kingston, and he called on James A. Dwyer, who had worked with him, to secure the industry for the city, to tell of the product to be manufactured and the financial standing of the concern.

Representatives of the three business men's associations of the city were present at the meeting and pledged their support toward any friendly gesture the committee might deem wise in order to complete the transaction.

However, it was stated that this firm did not make any demands upon the city, but other cities had made the concern attractive offers, including the cost of the removal of the plant from New York city.

Model Factory
Mayor Heiselman in outlining his plan for organizing a local stock company to erect a $200,000 model factory in the city said that the electrical concern was interested in obtaining 20,000 square feet of space.

The mayor said his idea was to get together a representative group of business and professional men of the city together with representatives of the workers of the city. This group should be composed, he said, of men in whom the residents of the city had confidence and he believed it would be possible to erect a model factory with 100,000 square feet of space.

The factory, the mayor said, should be constructed so that it could be partitioned off, and a concern given as much floor space as it needed.

As soon as the factory was leased steps should be taken to immediately erect another factory building.

Mayor Heiselman believed that with such a factory erected it would be easily possible to rent it and that the stockholders would obtain at least 3 per cent interest on the investment and in time

Cooper Lake Drops 6 1/2 Feet Below Its Normal Water Line

Feeder Streams Reported
Very Dry and City's Supply
Is Dropping to Low
Point

Loss From Heat

Evaporation Also Cuts Into Gallage; City Users Are Warned

With Cooper's Lake 6 1/2 feet below normal water mark today the need of conservation of the city's water supply daily becomes more apparent. The lake now contains approximately 700,000,000 gallons of water.

All of Kingston's water supply is now furnished by Cooper's Lake, and the streams that feed the lake are reported practically dry at the present time, owing to the drought that has gripped the city and county since the first of May.

Billion Capacity
Cooper's Lake has a capacity of a billion gallons when filled. Originally it held 500,000,000 gallons, but in 1928 the dam at the lake was raised 10 feet, doubling the capacity.

In addition to the consumption of approximately five and a half million gallons of water daily in the city, there is almost a same wastage from evaporation at the lake during the day of intense heat.

Householders Warned
The situation has become so serious that the water department has limited the hours of sprinkling to two hours a day each evening, between the hours of 6 and 8 o'clock.

At the water department office in the city hall today it was stated that the majority of residents of the city were cooperating with the department in the conservation of water, but that there were still a few householders who persisted in sprinkling longer than the hours permitted.

If the practice is continued it is expected that the water department will take drastic steps and shut off the water supply to the houses where water is being wasted.

Taft Is Expected To Proclaim Stand

Republican Senator Makes
Statement Soon, Close
Friends Say Today

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Close friends of Senator Taft (R-Ohio) said today he soon would make a definite statement of his willingness to stand for the Republican presidential nomination in 1940.

The statement may come, they disclosed, in a letter to supporters in Ohio authorizing them to seek election as Taft-pledged delegates to the party's convention.

Under the Ohio system, an individual can not run for delegates unless he lists his first and second choices for the presidential nomination and accompanies them with written authorization from the designated men.

It was reported authoritatively that Taft would include in his statement his views on national problems. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) did that in a recent letter which was interpreted widely as indicating his receptiveness to the Republican presidential nomination.

Vandenberg said the next President should be pre-pledged to serve only one term. There was no indication as to whether Taft would approve that idea.

Taft told reporters last December, a month after his election to the Senate, that he believed the Republicans should nominate a "liberal" in 1940, "if by liberal you mean a man who wants to improve conditions and who is willing to accept changes."

Health Insurance Is Best Way To End Problems, Speaker Says

Health insurance is the most practical way of solving the problems of public health in this country today, according to Dr. John A. Kingsbury, who was the principal speaker last night at a meeting of the Kingston branch of the American League for Peace and Democracy. He recommended its adoption through the passage of the Wagner health bill, now pending before Congress.

Asserting that the American medical profession is at the "crossroads," the former secretary of the Millbank Foundation, declared that the time is "rotten-ripe" for a change because the discoveries of science are not available to the rich and poor alike.

Artists to Appear at Benedictine Concert

GEORGES BARRE

PIERRE HENROTTE

The annual concert given by Pierre Henrotte, former concert master of the Metropolitan Opera House, for the Benedictine Hospital is scheduled for September 8, at the Kingston High School Auditorium, it was announced today. The artists who will participate in this concert of chamber music will be Inez Carroll Richards, pianist; Georges Barre, flautist; Pierre Henrotte, violinist; Sanford Schoenbach, viola player and Engelbert Roentgen, cellist, musicians known and admired by music lovers.

Takes Boss at Word; Waits in Car 48 Hours

Raleigh, N. C., July 25 (AP)—"I'll be back in a little while; you just wait right here until I return."

That, said Eugene Marsh, Anson county negro, was what his boss told him as he parked his car here Friday.

So Marsh waited, not knowing his boss had forgotten where he parked the car, and had reported the matter to police.

Police located the car 48 hours later. They found Marsh still waiting, sitting in the back seat.

Shawangunk Fire Nears Napanoch

Forest Blaze Approaching
Correctional Institution

Superintendent McNell of the Napanoch Institution reported this afternoon that the fire was burning briskly on the mountain south of the institution and was perhaps half a mile from the walls which surround it.

During the course of the fire in this section it came within 600 yards or so of the large Kavenaugh boarding house south of the institution, and just at this time is spreading along the sides of the mountain both north and south. Considerable damage already has been done to the institution watershed, the reservoir which supplies the institution being located on the mountain side at this point.

The fire is being fought by some 70 inmates of the institution, under direction of the guards and at present, with a northeast wind, is not threatening the plant.

The main fire on top of the Shawangunk, opposite Ellenville, was pretty well under control this morning, according to Martin F. Merritt, observer at the High Point fire tower.

At least two other fires broke out yesterday, however, it was stated. One of these started about noon Monday in the Stonykill section, in the neighborhood of the "4-mile post" on the old road leading from Minerva to Ellenville and burned toward Gramite. This is reported to have been a good sized fire.

Monday afternoon a burning barn along the Berne road, which runs along the valley at the foot of the mountain, started a fire on the mountain side between Cantonville and the Napanoch Inn.

Contest Develops In 11th Ward for Aldermanic Post

Crosswell and Burt Oppose Cornwell's Nomination,
but Incumbent Is Caucus Winner

In only one ward, the Eleventh, was there a contest for the Republican nomination for the office of alderman, at the party caucuses held in the various wards Monday evening when candidates for supervisor and alderman were designated.

Those named in the various wards follow. A star after the name indicates that the one named is a candidate to succeed himself.

First ward—Supervisor, Dr. Harry P. Van Wagenen*; alderman, Paul A. Zucca*.

Second ward—Supervisor, Jay Rifenburg*; alderman, John F. Locke.

Third ward—Supervisor, Samuel Williams*; alderman, Clarence Robertson*.

Fourth ward—Supervisor, Fred Tubby; alderman, Walter Lucas.

Fifth ward—Supervisor, Edwin W. Ashby; alderman, Henry Fox.

Seventh ward—Supervisor, Henry Dittus; alderman, John Burns, Sr.

Eighth ward—Supervisor, Henry Kelsch*; alderman, Dorr E. Monroo.

Ninth ward—Supervisor, Cornelius J. Heitzman*; alderman, James E. Connelly*.

Tenth ward—Supervisor, Chester Baltz, Jr.; alderman, Fred L. Renn*.

Eleventh ward—Supervisor, Robert Phinney*; alderman, Eugene Cornwell*.

Twelfth ward—Supervisor, Stanley M. Winne*; alderman, John J. Gayon*.

Thirteenth ward—Supervisor, George Krum; alderman, Thomas Hoffman.

Alderman Cornwell's nomination to succeed himself in the Eleventh ward was opposed by Percy Crosswell and Jesse Burt, and when the votes were counted Cornwell received 74; Crosswell, 33, and Burt, 66. With the announcement of the vote the nomination of Alderman Cornwell was made unanimous, on motion of Mr. Crosswell.

In the second ward Alderman Jacob H. Tremper declined the nomination and John F. Locke of Roosevelt avenue was named as the candidate.

Henry Fox, who was named aldermanic candidate in the Fifth ward, is a former member of the common council. Alderman James R. Murphy declined renomination.

The Republican city convention will be held next Monday evening, at which time it is expected that Mayor C. J. Heiselman will be named to succeed himself as a candidate for mayor, and Alderman-at-large John J. Schwenk as a candidate to succeed himself.

Buenos Aires, July 25 (AP)—German and French airlines plan to inaugurate South Atlantic passenger service in October, cutting travel time from Buenos Aires to Berlin and Paris from three weeks to four days.

One Little Detail

Reno, July 25 (AP)—The fellow who started the hot water furnace in a downtown building overhauled a little detail—the furnace had no chimney. Occupants of a gambling club and bar, which is undergoing extensive remodeling, were "smoked out."

Vegetable Prices Take Skyward Leap in State

Albany, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—Prices of fresh vegetables soared today as state conservationists' ban on possible closing of the state's forests as a result of a protracted drought.

With Gustave S. Lindgren, Albany meteorologist, reporting a rainfall deficiency of two inches for July, Deputy Conservation Commissioner John T. Gibbs said only the "utmost caution" by the public would keep the forests open.

Lindgren said no immediate relief was in sight.

Hamilton Makes Bid for New York

National GOP Chairman
Addresses Tioga Rally

Owego, N. Y., July 25 (AP)—National Republican Chairman John D. M. Hamilton made today his second bid for New York State's 47 electoral college vote in the 1940 presidential election.

Coming here to address the annual Tioga county Republican rally, Hamilton followed an earlier visit to Albany where he stressed the need for the New York state votes "if a Republican is to be elected president in 1940."

Hamilton said today European unrest is "in some measure a product of the American economic scene."

In an address prepared for the annual Tioga county Republican rally, Hamilton explained "under normal conditions America is by far the greatest single consuming market in the world," adding:

"It draws on the four corners of the globe for much of what it consumes and in doing this, it contributes largely to the well-being and prosperity of other nations. Seven years of intermittent depression have reduced the demands of this ordinarily prosperous consuming market, and have thus aggravated the European distress and contributed to European political unrest."

Vandenberg Calls Bill Device Used To Escape Limits

Michigan Republican Says
Lending Measure Also Designed to Socialize
Business

'Final Spree'

Calls Act 'Final Spree of Spendthrifts' in Government

Washington, July 25 (AP)—Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich) termed the administration's $2,490,000,000 lending bill today "a device for cheating the debt limit, for socializing business and for another tug at boot-strap lifting."

He issued a statement, while the Senate leadership worked for early approval of the measure, and while reports circulated that a coalition of Democrats and Republicans would try to bottle up the legislation in the House rules committee.

"This," said Vandenberg, "is the final spree of the spendthrifts who think they can make an $80,000,000,000 country out of a $80,000,000,000 country by borrowing the difference."

"Under the impact of universal criticism they have feverishly trimmed their bill of some of its more glaring affronts to economic sanity."

"Still a Device"

"But it is still a device for cheating the debt limit, for socializing business and for another tug at boot-strap lifting."

"Seemingly they never learn that you can't make a silk purse out of a sow's ear; and you can't build a sound prosperity around an insolvent treasury."

The lending measure was side-tracked temporarily in the Senate yesterday when a bill to create new federal judgeships and a treaty with Panama provoked hours of contentious debate.

Senator Barkley of Kentucky, the Democratic leader, seeking to stir the Senate to a fast-pre-adjournment pace, announced that night sessions would begin tomorrow. He urged Senators to stay on the floor so that a majority might be present to transact business.

Only a few hours after Barkley spoke, however, two calls of the Senate roll brought only 37 Senators—a dozen short of a quorum—to their desks. Barkley then agreed to adjournment until 11 a. m. E. S. today.

President Roosevelt, returning to Washington overnight from Hyde Park, N. Y., was expected to canvass the legislative situation. He was represented as anxious to obtain enactment of the lending measure as well as a bill to double the $800,000,000 borrowing power of the United States housing authority before adjournment.

Crevasse Searched

Millinocket, Me., July 25 (AP)—Sturdy Maine mountaineers proposed today to let themselves be lowered into a deep crevasse atop Mount Katahdin in a desperate effort to find the body of Donn Fendler, 12, lost on the mile-high peak since July 17. The Rev. Charles A. Watkins of East Millinocket reported last night detecting an odor from the crevasse, which he thought might be that of a human body. He said the crevasse was so deep he could not see bottom. The spot is on the "northern rim not far from Monument Peak, where the Rye, N. Y., Boy Scout disappeared."

Vetoes Relief Bill

Los Angeles, July 25 (AP)—Gov. Culbert Olson vetoed a bill to give relief funds to aliens because "it would be un-American to deny food and assistance to the residents and workers in this state, who, through neglect or no fault of their own have been unable to acquire citizenship. We have sent millions in relief contributions to all parts of the world. Since when have Americans ceased to regard it as no longer their moral responsibility to alleviate the distress of other human beings, regardless of race, creed, color or citizenship?"

Will Be Released

Cleveland, July 25 (AP)—A "reliable Arab source" has assured the U. S. consul general at Jerusalem that the kidnapped Rev. Gerould R. Goldner will be released by tomorrow. Rep. George H. Bender (R., Ohio) informed Cleveland friends today. Representative Bender relayed here from Washington this cablegram received by the state department from its Jerusalem consul: "I am assured by my most reliable Arab sources that Mr. Goldner was alive and well yesterday afternoon. The same source assures me that he will be released by tomorrow morning."

Everything's Fine

Los Angeles, July 25 (AP)—An ambulance, taking an expectant mother to a hospital, overturned after it and a speeding auto collided before dawn today. Dr. George Baker, Nurse Eleanor Robertson and Driver Heustus Himpler were treated for bruises. A second ambulance was called. Mrs. Sue McDonald, 22, an hour later in General Hospital, gave birth to a husky boy. Both are in fine condition.

Held in Killing

Thomas Boyce, (above) 26-year-old golf course worker, was held at Attica, Ind., in the attack-slaying of Elizabeth DeBruicker, 11, whose body was found near the course. Sheriff William H. Ramsey said Boyce had made an oral confession of the slaying.

Brown Is Held For Grand Larceny

Alleged to have taken some $237 worth of chickens as down payment on poultry farm equipment and then failing to deliver the articles contracted for, Erskine Brown, 39, of 209 E. 50th street, New York city, was arrested in New York Monday by city police and brought to Kingston by Deputy Sheriff Winne and O'Brien. This morning he was arraigned before Justice U. Parker Decker who held him for appearance before the grand jury on a charge of grand larceny in the second degree.

Brown's arrest followed investigation of a deal made November 18 last, by Trooper John Metzger of the B. C. I. The complainant was Benjamin Marcella of Highland, who claims that on that date Brown agreed to deliver, as a representative of the Arndt Mfg. Co. of Trenton, N. J., certain broilers and batteries, taking in pay chickens and cash. Marcella claims that he delivered Brown 704 pounds of chickens valued at $237 as a down payment, but that he never received any of the equipment bargained for.

stitution. Observer Merritt said that this fire was still burning this morning and he understood from the institution where he was assisting in fighting it.

Mr. Merritt said that all available help was being utilized, with some 300 men fighting the fire Monday, while a contingent of 100 C. C. C. boys from the camp at High Point, N. J., were expected to arrive today.

Yesterday a fire line was established from the point where Beaver Brook crosses the old Minnewaska road, west along the foot of the mountain to the North Gulley, in the Ellenville watershed and the fire on top of the mountain was being held under control along that line.

Fire was burning toward the North Gulley, threatening the watershed and Ranger John Addis, with a force of 75 men has been fighting in that sector, endeavoring to stop the fire from extending further into the watershed.

Cut on Head

Fort Worth, Tex., July 25 (AP)—Ruth Chandler Roosevelt, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elliott Roosevelt, was cut on the head and bruised about the chest in a fall at play yesterday. Hospital attendants said the President's granddaughter, not seriously injured, would go home today.

'Prairie Rose' Found

Rawlins, Wyo., July 25 (AP)—The skeleton of "Prairie Rose" Henderson, rodeo star who disappeared in a blizzard seven years ago, was found in the Green Mountain section yesterday. By coincidence her husband, Charles Coleman, was fighting a forest fire nearby.

WPA's Layoff Is Not in Effect

A month's vacation for WPA workers who have been on the payroll for 18 months has not gone into effect in Ulster county as yet, it was stated at the local WPA office today.

The original list submitted to the local WPA called for the layoff of 538 workers, of which number 291 resided in Kingston.

This list has been carefully checked, and as a result the total layoff in the city and county will number approximately 410.

The list was reduced to that number due largely to the fact that a number of World War veterans have been working on the WPA for the past 18 months, and under a ruling from Washington they are exempt from taking an enforced vacation.

It is expected that the gradual dropping from the payroll of those who have been on it for 18 months will start shortly.

Decline in Wheat Prices Is Feature Of Market Trend

Steady decline in the price of wheat, traditionally strong on threats of war, is featuring market news just now. Heavy liquidation in the Chicago and Winnipeg markets continued Monday.

At Chicago wheat closed off 2 1/2 cents a bushel, making a decline of 11 1/2 cents a bushel since July 1. Although the current domestic crop is estimated at 20 per cent under last year, the grain is now being accumulated in the U. S. at a record pace, with close to 130,000,000 bushels now at terminal elevators, largest since the end of the "Farm Board" accumulation era in 1933. Stocks in wheat, Ottawa reports that Great Britain has piled up reserves which have filled all storage space at home and are now storing in Canada. Other consuming countries are also piling up reserves.

It is stated that the Liverpool price already has fallen to a low since the reign of Elizabeth.

The break in grains lowered the commodity price index to 47.03, lowest point since April 17. There was some resistance in other staples. Cotton advanced on report that a subsidy of 1 1/2 cents a pound would be paid on cotton.

Steel advanced and prices showed signs of a rise. The market was scheduled for over four points.

There is a broad demand for miscellaneous products with orders expected soon for auto sheet steel.

Hopes appeared yesterday for a milder government policy towards utilities. The apparently conciliatory action followed closing of the TVA.

Tired of Error

Boston, July 25 (AP)—James A. Roosevelt, 25, a native of Pennsylvania, is getting a wee bit tired of being confused with FDR's son Jimmy in 1932 an ardent Republican fired him from a good job because the boss thought he was the President's oldest son.

In Buenos Aires last month he asked postal officials to trace a letter and had to make a tour of the city's postal facilities despite his protest that he was not the U. S. president's oldest son. He looks a little like the President's son, but this James A. Roosevelt is an older Abner American freighter on East Indian, now tied up at the army base.

Raible Arrested

Charles E. Raible of Kingston was arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Vredenburg and Brown, on a charge of reckless driving, following an accident on the West Hurley Woodstock road, about 5 o'clock Monday afternoon. Araigned before Justice John G. Groves he pleaded not guilty and the case will be heard later. Raible's arrest followed an accident near the Tokalon Kennels, in which cars driven by Lester H. Winslow and John F. Gross of Brookline were sideswiped. All three cars were damaged.

Raising Homers

Watertown (AP)—Two Gallions Island coast guardsmen who raised homing pigeons in Pennsylvania before joining the service are at it again with 24 pigeons at the station. Arthur Cushman and Franklin Conaway figure the birds may be useful in line of duty if they ever want to send a message back to the island while out in a boat.

Fingerprinting Of All Urged

Washington Studies Plan To Make It Part of 1940 Census.

SPOKANE, WASH.—United States Commissioner Maurice Smith, who 37 years ago helped overtake the Pacific Northwest's most notorious badman, Harry Tracy, urges that mandatory public fingerprinting be adopted and that it be taken by United States census workers next year.

Smith already has exchanged correspondence with the census bureau, J. Edgar Hoover, chief of the federal bureau of investigation, and the United States attorney general's office in Washington, regarding the idea, which the commissioner has studied consistently.

A letter from the assistant director of the census bureau, Vergil D. Reed, promised the suggestion would be considered by the committee appointed to determine the inquiries which are to be included in the population schedule for the sixteenth decennial census.

Smith said universal fingerprinting would solve the problem of identifying the hundreds of "unknowns" whose bodies annually lie in morgues for weeks and finally are buried in pauper's fields without their names ever being determined by authorities.

The commissioner said there could be only two objections raised to public fingerprinting. The first he listed as the inconvenience and expense entailed, and the second that some persons might feel it had some connection with classifying them with criminals.

"In reply to the first objection," Smith said, "it should be understood that fingerprinting is very simple and inexpensive and especially so if the prints are obtained at the same time the coming census is obtained, which will be in 1940."

"The second objection is, of course, not well founded for the reason that all persons connected with military forces in the last war were fingerprinted, and everyone understood it was for identification and had no relation to criminal matters."

"It will not be necessary to quote statistics to convince anyone the identity of many persons who are now unknown could be determined definitely if the fingerprints of such persons were on record."

"The census bureau contained the prints of all persons, including children, it would not be many years before an absolute record of all persons could be obtained by a check with the department. These records would be available only to the constituted authorities."

"Many persons enter upon a criminal career with the idea that their identity would never become known. If, however, each person was aware of the fact that his identity could and would be ascertained, it might have considerable bearing on his conduct."

'Seeing Eye' Dog Serves As Partner in Law Firm

NEW HAVEN, CONN.—Gretchen, a police dog, is an indispensable "silent partner" of Henry T. Istas, attorney.

Istas has been blind since birth, received his college and law training under great handicaps and after being admitted to practice found it almost impossible to pursue his business alone.

So he went to the "Seeing Eye" farm at Morrisville, N. J., selected Gretchen as his companion and together they have become familiar figures in the courts.

Gretchen curls at the feet of her master while he conducts his cases, makes notes in Braille on a pocket-size machine and cites references which he must commit to memory.

When the case is over, Gretchen leads Istas unerringly from the courtroom to his office.

British Trains to Light Own Automatic Signals

LONDON.—A system of approach lighting by trains is to be applied to 17 automatic distant signals in the southern area of the London North Eastern Railway system.

Under the new system no lights normally will be visible, but when a train approaches the appropriate signal it automatically displayed immediately the train is within sighting distance and is extinguished when the train has passed.

All the signals concerned now are lighted continuously by means of primary batteries.

Father, Dear Father Come Home With Me

PASADENA, CALIF.—An extensive survey taken here relative to father's place in the home, revealed that the majority of mothers believe if father will just keep out of the kitchen, he isn't bad person to help out along other lines of housework. The final conclusion was that America is achieving equality in home making—meaning that father is doing an increasing share of the "housework."

Killing of Woman Is Called Murder

Platte City, Mo., July 25 (AP)—Killing of a hitch-hiking woman Bible peddler on a lonely byroad near here was pronounced murder today by Coroner Leland Francis.

The woman was identified by a social security card as Lillian Gerber Davis, about 40, of Davenport, Ia.

Francis said she had been beaten on the head last night, apparently with a wrench.

Near her body were two cardboard boxes containing clothes, 11 new Bibles and papers showing she had been twice married and that one son had been adopted.

"because the boy was without a home and wandering across the country with his mother who is unable to take care of him."

CLIMBING PARTY SHOWN JUST BEFORE SNOWSLIDE STRUCK

Just after this picture was made of a college scaling party ascending Mount Baker, Wash., a snowslide roared down from the cliff above and claimed six lives among the climbers. The rock mass at the right is Roman Wall, where the slide started. Fresh-fallen snow slid down the mountain in a section six blocks long, and rolled along for a half mile before spilling into a crevasse. The disaster was the worst in the history of Pacific Northwest mountain climbing.

Mrs. Kaufman Gets Threat of Bombing

Newport, R. I., July 25 (AP)—A crudely printed threat to bomb the Newport mansion of Mrs. Angela Kaufman unless Harleim's Father Divine stays out of this society resort was in the hands of police today.

Officers said the note was found last night inside a broken dining room window in Mrs. Kaufman's mansion, "The Castles," which she has offered to the negro evangelist as a "heaven" for his "angels," because licensing authorities refused her a permit to sell liquor.

"Father Divine will receive a warm reception, 1,000 strong K.K.K.," the note said. "A bomb will accompany the next warning. *** Black God Divine must not come here. Beware. . . . Order 6556 join now."

It was printed with a stamp of the type commonly used by children. Mrs. Kaufman was away from home at the time and only two servants were in the house.

Mrs. Kaufman previously had reported receipt of anonymous tar and feather threats if she persisted in her plan of disposing of the mansion to Father Divine.

PRASE FROM AN EXPERT

Leaving America again for "Europe's dark, troubled skies," Dr. Eduard Benes, former president of Czechoslovakia, expressed his assurance that democracy is secure in at least one great country—the United States. He attributes this largely to the American press, which he calls "the best in the world—the most free, most informed and most objective."

Members of the press, from professional pride or other reasons, might be suspected of undue egotism in making such a pronouncement. But Dr. Benes should know, if anyone does. And it is hard to see how any American, taking a good look at the press of other nations, could fail to come to the same conclusion.

The lack of freedom of nearly all of the newspapers in continental Europe and Asia is so obvious that the matter is hardly worth discussing. In the "authoritarian" countries the dictator is virtually the editor of the entire press, and it prints what he wants and omits what he doesn't want.

The press in the small, free countries of the Old World, although free itself in normal times, is subject now to great pressure and naturally fails to print all the news. Even in England, traditional home of journalistic freedom, there is far less coverage of general news and less accurate presentation of the state of the world from day to day, than there is in this country. It is especially so with respect to political and economic facts.

Thus the American public is in position to know not only more about our domestic affairs, than readers elsewhere can know about theirs, but vastly more about the state of the world. And thus Americans in general may be better informed regarding vital events in foreign capitals than are the people living there.

NEUTRALITY HOMEWORK

Now that action on neutrality legislation has been postponed until the next session of Congress the public will enjoy a brief rest from the arguments pro and con. It would be a mistake, however, to banish the issue from our minds until it is again up for consideration in Congress. The experience of recent weeks has revealed great popular confusion as to the terms, methods and purpose of so-called neutrality legislation.

Most Americans agree that this country must, if possible, keep out of future foreign wars. Secretary Hull and President Roosevelt, with the senators who oppose their program, hope that American soldiers will never again cross any ocean or any frontier to fight an enemy on foreign soil.

Disagreement arises over the plans presented for achieving that purpose. Here is the place where clearer understanding is necessary. It has been suggested by both sides in the recent neutrality discussion that the subject should be taken to the people, and no doubt it will be.

The people should do a little "boning up" on the subject themselves. Now is the time to study the various proposals made in this session of Congress and the newspaper interpretation of them. It would be well to master a few definitions—particularly of such terms as "neutrality," "embargo," "boycott," "freedom of the seas"—and delve a little into the historic attitude of this country and the results of past experiments with neutrality. It may sound like hard work for summer and autumn days, but it's work worth doing. The clearer public thinking is on this problem, the wiser congressional action will be.

EXCITED JAPS

We hardly recognize Japan lately. What has happened to that supposedly gentle, courteous nation, to make them perpetrate the cruel excesses of their armies in China, and now the insolent treatment of British and other foreigners in northern China and the civilian demonstrations in Japan itself?

Last week a crowd of more than 50,000 Japanese, shouting and gesticulating fiercely in front of the British embassy, demonstrated their hostility against Great Britain. It is said to have been one of the greatest expressions against a foreign nation in the history of the country. There were posters and handbills with the slogans, "Punch the British Nose" and "Let's all knock down the British."

Meanwhile similar outbreaks occurred throughout Japan, and the participants were estimated at 15,000,000. The government may well have had something to do with them, but they seemed spontaneous.

Obviously something quite unexpected has happened to the Japanese people. Where is it going to lead them, and what will it do to British and other interests in the Far East, including our own? Perhaps we Americans come next.

DOUBLED TIRE MILEAGE

An oil products company in this country now promises a synthetic rubber which will make tires good for 60,000 miles of use. The stuff they are already turning out competes with raw rubber in cost and will wear twice as long.

The synthetic rubber, known as buna, is made from natural gas and refinery gas. The Germans make a similar product, not so durable, from coal gases and limestone. The American process eliminates five steps the Germans find necessary.

With a slight change in process and the same equipment the oil company produces butylene, an alcohol which converts easily into aviation fuel.

Production of these materials on a commercial scale is at least a year away, but a year is none too long for adjustment to such a radical change as this will produce in the rubber and tire industries.

William Jennings Bryan died too soon. He would have loved this free and unlimited purchase of silver, even though not much of it is coined any more.

The difficulty about restoring prosperity is that most of us still prefer a few large profits to many small ones.

As if it weren't enough that the Japanese are devouring eastern Asia, their beetles are trying to eat up everything in this country.

At a time when nations need friends more than ever before, Japan and Germany are doing their best to make enemies.

Strange meteors have been seen lately bursting in the upper air, and they may portend the bursting of meteoric statesmen.

SUITABLE SHOES

There appears to be a streak of vanity in all of us, both men and women. I have in mind the shoes we wear.

The age of the "pointed" toes was well past during the examination of recruits, but the results were seen in the deformities—bunions on the inner side of the big toe and corns and hammer toes on the middle and outer toes, due to pressure. Still another cause was the human desire to have "small" shoes. About four of every five recruits were wearing shoes that were too short for their feet. Fortunately about twenty-five years ago one or two shoe manufacturers began supplying "sensible" shoes which were straight the entire length of the inner side right up to and slightly beyond the big toe; the top of the shoe, while not exactly square, was "rounded" so gradually to the outer or little toe that there was abundant room for all the toes to lie in a straight or extended position instead of being "curled" up by the pointed or sharply curved shoes. These "sensible" shoes for men and women were gladly acclaimed by a great many who were much on their feet—nurses, housekeepers, and office and factory workers.

It would appear, however, that the streak of vanity in all of us, which shoe salesmen notice and pass on to manufacturers, has caused some to begin to make shoes with a little more "point"; they are "curved" on both the inner and outer sides at the top.

There is also the point in regard to women, that with the present short skirts, shoes are noticed more and it is only to be expected that women will wear shoes that make the feet appear small. Now, foot comfort means nerve comfort. Many a man or woman, with a pleasant disposition under ordinary circumstances, becomes very irritable from wearing shoes that hurt the feet. If they are bound to wear shoes that are neat but not comfortable, the only suggestion is that they wear a larger size. This will give some measure of relief.

Remember, our feet often mean as much to our happiness and earning ability as does our head.

'Inevitable' Complex of European Toward War Makes Peace Efforts Exceedingly Difficult

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 25.—Twenty-five years ago this week, the World War broke out. Efforts to prevent it were fruitless, because events happened too rapidly to stop the mobilization of troops and hostilities. Today, efforts are being made to prevent another world war, and yet the news from Great Britain, one the one hand, and Germany, on the other, indicates that large sections of the people believe in the inevitability of another conflict.

Perhaps the most discouraging aspect of the present situation is the news just received to the effect that widespread criticism has met the attempt of R. S. Hudson, secretary for overseas trade in the British cabinet, to find a way to bring about a program of economic cooperation between Britain and Germany. Bitter comment to the effect that the plan contemplates "bribery" of the Hitler regime reveals the difficulty which statesmen nowadays have with the prejudices and deep-seated emotions which have enveloped the situation as a whole.

That Germany needs capital and cannot sustain herself without more export trade is conceded both inside and outside Berlin. That the rest of the world has the capital to advance to Germany is also an indisputable fact. But what better the problem is that emotions have become so intense that ways out of the dilemma are hard to apply even when they are found.

For a long time it has been apparent that the United States government believes the way out of the European war scare was to produce an era of peace stimulated by economic aid. In the President's message to Herr Hitler was a direct hint about economic cooperation. Those who insist on contending that this is "bribery" do not take into account that fascism and nazism are the result of adverse rather than prosperous economic conditions, and that a world war would not be threatened today if economic outlets were available and overseas trade forthcoming to the so-called "have-not" countries.

Although the United States has no direct interest in European quarrels and American public opinion overwhelmingly favors a policy of "no meddling," there never has been a time when the American government has considered economic cooperation as necessarily requiring political entanglement. Almost every administration in the last 20 years has recognized the necessity of economic cooperation in some form with Europe.

Today more than ever the acute necessity of adjusting the American economy to world conditions is apparent. Thus, in the last 24 hours, the wheat market broke downward and corn reached a new low for six years. Farm commodity prices are 'way down.' The world markets have been in large part lost to us by the artificial pegging of prices through commodity loans, so that now the administration finds itself compelled to pay export subsidies in order to recover a share of the world farm market.

While Secretary Hudson of the British cabinet may be forced into a corner by the intensity of British feeling toward Germany, there is little doubt here that he has developed the one practical plan for averting a war. It is to recognize that a nation of 85,000,000 people, now included under German sovereignty, cannot be ignored as an economic factor in world trade, and that the chances of peace are better with a practical program permitting actual disarmament on both sides is offered. Even if both sides agreed for humane reasons to abandon their weapons, there would remain the question of how to rearrange the domestic economy of each European country which has been lately engaged in armament production.

Clearly, not a sympathetic program that gave promise of an era of peace would engage the sympathy of the American government, though here in America, too, persons who feel bitterly about the Nazi policies would probably use every political means available to thwart it. In a period in which hates are being intensified each year by pro and anti-Fascist factions in America itself, the viewing of Germany's economic needs fairly will not be readily accepted on all sides as a practical approach. But such an approach will in time become essential to the prevention of war, especially as the development of attitudes of fairness and impartiality gradually reduce the emotional outbursts on both sides.

The opportunity to save millions of lives all over the world, including American lives, by the intelligent interchange of capital and material resources will be contrasted in 1939 with the futility of four years of conflict on the battlefield which began in 1914. And, so far as unofficial opinion here is concerned, there are hopes expressed that the British government will not be swayed by surface criticism, but will pursue the plan for economic cooperation informally discussed by the German economic envoy and Secretary Hudson of the British cabinet. ### Becomes 'Siamese Twins'

Yosemite, Calif. (AP)—Two pine trees over 150 years old have fused at the top to constitute Siamese twins of the vegetable world. Emil Ernst, park forester, explains that the lofty tops of the trees touched and friction resulting from wind killed one top. The two then grew together and now are thriving with a common top.

HUDSON RIVER STEAMBOATS

These articles are written from the collection of George W. Murdock, veteran marine engineer.

No. 100—Homer Ramsdell. Although she left the waters of the Hudson—the river where she was launched—nearly nine years ago, the memory of the steamer "Homer Ramsdell" is still a vivid picture to many of the present generation. The vessel which once plowed the waters of the Hudson river, is still in service although the name "Homer Ramsdell" no longer appears on her bow.

The steel hull of the "Homer Ramsdell" was built by the T. S. Marvel & Company at Newburgh in 1887, and her engine was the product of William Wright, also of Newburgh. Her dimensions are listed: Length of hull, 225 feet, 8 inches, breadth of hull 32 feet, 6 inches (over guards), 30 feet, 6 inches, depth of hold 11 feet, 9 inches; engine compound fore and aft, diameter of cylinders, high pressure 28 inches, low pressure 52 inches by 36 inch stroke. She had two steel boilers of the lobster-back type which were constructed by W. & A. Fletcher Company at Hoboken, New Jersey. Her gross tonnage was 1181, and her net tonnage 822.

The "Homer Ramsdell" was built for the night line between Newburgh and New York, and was launched on February 24, 1887. She was owned by the Homer Ramsdell Transportation Company of Newburgh, and was a large, speedy, first class propeller steamer of the most modern design. Her speed was rated at 16 miles per hour and she cost $115,000 when she was completed.

Two fast trips recorded in the history of the "Homer Ramsdell" are on August 21, 1887, and the other on July 28, 1889, (from New York to Newburgh), gave a good indication of the speed of the steamer, when she completed the trips in three hours and nine minutes, and three hours and seven minutes respectively.

One year before the launching of the "Homer Ramsdell," the Homer Ramsdell Transportation Company had the propeller steamer "Newburgh" built at Philadelphia. The "Newburgh" was launched at the Quaker city on April 1, 1886, and the steamer "Homer Ramsdell" was constructed as a consort for the line. "Newburgh" on the New York route until 1899 when a new company was formed. This new company, the Central Hudson Steamboat Company, was formed out of the former Poughkeepsie Transportation Company and the Rorer & Tremper Line of Rondout.

On November 28, 1929, the Nantasket Beach excursion fleet was burned. The destroyed vessels (all sidewheelers) included the "Old Colony," "Mary Chilton," "Rose Standish," "Betty Alden," and "Nantasket." This event marked what is probably the end of the "Homer Ramsdell's" service on the Hudson river. In the spring of 1930 the "Homer Ramsdell" and the "Newburgh" were sold to the Nantasket Steamboat Company and were converted into excursion steamboats. May 1, 1930, saw the name "Homer Ramsdell" disappear from the bow of the former Hudson river vessel and the name "Hester" take its place. The "Newburgh" was renamed the "Nantasket" on the same date, and the two vessels were taken east to run from Boston to Nantasket Beach where they are still in service.

Police Use Movie Camera

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—The California motorist who passes another car on a dangerous curve or otherwise misbehaves may now be faced with an indisputable record of his faults. Mounted behind the windshield of a California state patrol car is a 16mm. movie camera which operates automatically at the press of a button. When the officer at the wheel sees any "funny business" taking place on the highway in front of him he sets it in operation.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

SOCIETIES • CLUBS • PERSONALS

Mrs. Van Wagenen
Asked to Accept
State Commandership

Mrs. Harry Parker Van Wagenen, 17 John street, one of the vice commanders of the Women's Field Army of the American Society for the Control of Cancer, has been honored by the society with the appointment to state commander of the New York State Division of the Women's Field Army.

Mrs. Van Wagenen's appointment by Mrs. Marjorie B. Illig, national commander, was presented to the state executive committee and has been approved by that group, and was made in consideration of the splendid record made by her as vice commander. Mrs. Van Wagenen said yesterday that she had not yet decided upon her acceptance.

Mrs. Van Wagenen has been active for a number of years in women's and civic organizations in the city, county and district and before her acceptance as one of the vice-commanders of the Women's Field Army, was director for two terms of the third judicial district for the New York State Federation of Women's Clubs, which she resigned to carry on the women's work in the branch of the American Society for the Control of Cancer.

If Mrs. Van Wagenen accepts this position it will be a great honor for her as well as for the women of Ulster county. It will be the first time a vice-commander has succeeded to the state commandership, former state commanders having been selected from the professional leaders.

Celebrated Birthday

Mr. and Mrs. Henry A. Pekin of St. Remy entertained at a party Saturday evening at their home in honor of the 20th birthday of their son, Paul. An outdoor hot dog and popcorn roast was en-

Those attending were: The Misses Pauline Van Wagenen, Annabella Boomhauer, Hilda Middaugh, Ethel Ryan, Edna Bellini, Martha Schultz, Violet Schmitz and Helen Butler, and Walter Schmitz, Vernon Frost, Robert Jones, Allan Lund, Lloyd Lund and Richard Millett.

Shokan Fair

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church will hold its annual fair and supper on Wednesday, August 2. Many attractive booths will be found on the lawn and supper will be served at 5:30 o'clock in the church basement. The public is invited.

Wiltwyck Dance Saturday

The first in a series of informal summer dances at the Wiltwyck Golf Club will be held Saturday evening, July 29. Dancing will begin at 10 o'clock and music will be furnished by Tommy Brashaw's orchestra. The dance is in charge of the house committee.

New Paltz Graduate Wed

New Paltz, July 25—Miss Mary Louise Cleary, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John T. Cleary of Poughkeepsie and a graduate of New Paltz Normal School, and Thomas J. Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Ryan, were married Sunday afternoon, July 23, at 4 o'clock, in St. Mary's Church. The Rev. John J. Moylan performed the ceremony. The church was decorated with palms and gladioli. Miss Marguerite Waters played the marches and special music.

Miss Cleary was given in marriage by her father and was attired in a gown of white net and chintilly lace with a train. Her finger tip veil was caught in place with a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a prayer book with white streamers arranged with gardenias and lilies of the valley. Miss Dorothy A. Sherman attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a frock of aqua net trimmed with pink velvet. Her bouquet was of pink roses and bachelor buttons. James R. Ryan, Jr., attended his brother as best man. The ushers were James T. Cleary, brother of the bride, and Lester J. Dahn.

A reception for the bridal party and about 50 guests was held at the home of the bride's parents immediately after the ceremony. Following the reception the couple left for a wedding trip to the Thousand Islands, Niagara Falls and Canada. For her traveling costume Miss Cleary wore a jacket frock of peasant embroidered shantung with which she wore white accessories and a corsage of orchids. Mr. Ryan is employed in Poughkeepsie.

Newell-Ford

Miss Florence Ford of 6 St. James street and Kenneth E. Newell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Avery L. Newell, of 83 Franklin street, were united in marriage Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Arthur E. Oudemool, pastor of the First Reformed church. The bride wore a white silk marquisette with blue accessories and carried white roses with blue trim. The maid of honor, Mrs. James McGrath, wore a similar gown of pink marquisette with blue accessories and carried pink roses. The groom was attended by his brother, Earl A. Newell.

After the ceremony a reception was held for the immediate families at McCabe's Restaurant. Following a wedding trip to Atlantic City, Mr. and Mrs. Newell will reside on Howland avenue.

Class Has Hot Dog Roast

The Golden Circle Class of the Poughkeepsie Congregational Church held a hot dog roast at Mrs. William Hornbeck's camp at Mt. Marion on Sunday. Badminton, volleyball, horseshoes and swimming were the chief sports, with Chester Williams' the Badminton king. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Parslow, Mr. and Mrs. Frank P. ## Bride and Groom Return

Mr. and Mrs. George G. Brooks, who have been on an extended wedding trip for five months, have returned and spent Sunday at Hurry before leaving for their home in Bronx. The trip took them through 35 states and covered 18,866 miles. Enroute they spent five weeks in Florida and then toured by way of the southern route to the Pacific coast, stopping off twice in Mexico. From Southern California they traveled up the Pacific coast turning eastward again to visit each of the famous western irrigation and power dams, as well as all of the large national parks.

From the coast they traveled the central route home, making a trip north into Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota. They will spend the next three weeks at their home in the Bronx after which they will return to Ulster county for a short stay before returning to New York for the winter.

Host on Second Birthday

Master Stephen Edward Estroff played host to his many friends of Kingston and New York city Sunday afternoon at the residence of his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Estroff of 108 West O'Reilly street. ## MODES of the MOMENT

By Adelaide Kerr

For informal summer dinners Jane Bryan likes this casual frock which combines a white rayon alpaca skirt with a firecracker red jersey blouse collared and cuffed in the skirt fabric. She links the two with a black patent leather belt.

COTTON WITH PEAKED WAISTLINE

MARIAN MARTIN

PATTERN 9124

This clever cotton frock has a good mind for figures. It knows just where to place the detail and trimming in order to make the eye travel up and down. Pattern 9124 is one of Marian Martin's specials for matronly women—a useful frock that you'll wear all around for the rest of summer and at home in winter. Those nice skirt panels which may be bias-cut, trim down your hips, and the high-rising peaks of the waistline give you a smooth, sleek tummy. See the attractive front yokes, peaked to "ditto" the waist seams. They come right across the shoulders in one piece with the back yoke—a real time saver.

Pattern 9124 may be ordered only in women's sizes 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46 and 48. Size 36 requires 3½ yards 36 inch fabric and 2½ yards ric-rac.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Midsummer always calls for an inventory of your wardrobe to see if it doesn't need replenishing. Something cool and crisp for days that are hot and nights that are sultry! MARIAN MARTIN will bring you dozens of easily-made designs for sport, play and formal midsummer wear in our NEW PATTERN BOOK. There are pages and pages of fashions for femininity of all ages. The book is fifteen cents but when ordered with a pattern the price for both is twenty-five cents.

You will want to consult this pattern book frequently for your remaining summer costumes. Send your order to Kingston Daily Freeman, Pattern Department, 232 W. 18th St., New York, N. Y.

Chapter Four

Goodly

CECILY dusted off her hands and, leaning wearily on the shelf that was level with her elbows, studied the other girl while her brow furrowed. "Hilda, are you sure you mean it? I mean, wouldn't you rather I sent this stuff to storage? It doesn't seem right that you should put all your furniture away. I think you're doing this as a fine gesture of friendship to take this place off my hands."

"Don't be ridiculous," Hilda answered casually. "I'm delighted to live in new surroundings. I had to move anyway, and it isn't costing me anything to store my stuff in Ned's warehouse. He has lots of room. Suppose you go and get tied up and we'll have something to eat?"

She had heard the footsteps she had been waiting for in the area that led to the apartment. A moment later there was a great to-do as enthusiastic hands pounded on the door. Hilda might have been completely deaf for all the attention she gave to the thunder.

Cecily opened the door and was greeted with shouts and song. "Well!" she said, and pretended to grumble when she saw her friends with their arms filled with bulky packages as they pushed through the door, filling the small room. "What's the meaning of this?"

"A party, darling!" Jean Tuthill, who was a young and very unimportant assistant to the society editor of a New York newspaper, explained; and then they were all talking at once.

"I brought my camera along," Ted Pryor said. "Until a few weeks before Ted had been near the edge of starvation, as most of them in that group, with the exception of Cecily, had been during their two-year friendship."

"And I," explained Paul Gorio, who had been born Paul Jones and dropped the Jones part—illustrious as the combination had been—when he embraced a singer's career. "Wore a my bare, to lend a Bohemian atmosphere."

"Did you bring your guitar?" Cecily asked. "That's so much more important."

Paul didn't need his bet to lend the right atmosphere. It began when Lucius Fennelly's bride proudly produced a huge kettle of hot spaghetti and Lucius brought forth the makings of a gargantuan green salad. Someone else had brought a rare old cheese and Hilda dove under a lounge to drag out a case of beer.

"It's the first surprise party I've ever had," Cecily said later and remembered that it was the first party that Doug hadn't shared. Doug had sailed with the Kennells the night before and the next day she was to leave by motor for Vicksburg. "It's practically my debut."

Her voice wasn't as gay as she intended it should be.

Hastily, Patricia Fennelly said, "Don't talk of debts, Cecily. We're afraid that you'll desert us now that you're going in for high life."

"High life?" Cecily asked, laughing. "Of course it will be, Lucius says he's going to be having breakfast in bed every morning and caviar for dinner every night. Oh, we read our newspapers, we do, and we know how Madame Darrell lives. You'll be winking and..."

"Oh, please let's not talk about it," Cecily said before she realized what she was saying, or how much of her reluctance and unhappiness was in her voice.

Furious and Frustrated

AFTER the supper had been cleared away and the lamps turned off until there was only a dim, golden light in the room, they sang to the accompaniment of Paul's guitar, as they had done so many happy times before.

Cecily could not sing. Her throat was tight in the pleasant dimness, through the veils of smoke, over and over again her eyes traveled slowly about the room which she had made into a home. A home that she was leaving and did not know that she could ever have again.

It had seemed so modest when she wrote the checks to pay for its maintenance. Now it seemed, since there were no more checks, to be the height of elegance and comfort.

She tried to think of the autumn and her return. But for her, Time had stopped still. There was only the summer and, after that, she could not foresee the future. She only knew that Doug must go on to medical college and that somehow she must find a way to earn her living.

When she thought of her own ineffectuality, she felt furious and frustrated. She was young, ambitious and intelligent. She could drive a car, handle a boat in any dirty weather, cook reasonably well, paint a little, discuss history, politics, modern art and literary movements, strum a guitar, play bridge, swim and knit. But to save the life of her she couldn't find among those pleasant accomplishments one single thing that could be translated into a means of earning her living.

Paul sang a Neapolitan love-song. It reminded her of a girl she had met in Venice two years before. The girl had been a debutante and when the family fortune was lost in the depression, the girl had studied stenography and become a private secretary to a novelist who was traveling in Europe.

Cecily thought about that. It would be interesting to be a private secretary. But you had to have money to pay for a course at business college and you had to have money to live on until you got a job. She could, of course, continue to live in Olivia's big brownstone house in the East Seventies. But she had no money to pay for tuition and in the last two weeks since she had been living at her aunt's, Olivia, for all that she knew Cecily's financial status, had not offered to lend her any money or give her an allowance. Olivia, seeing her niece's fine clothes, had undoubtedly assumed that Cecily still had some money. Cecily would have died rather than mention that she had nothing.

She did have sixty dollars. This was Hilda's rent for July, and that was all she had. Mr. Cronkite had paid for the rental of the cottage on the Cape in advance and she and Douglas had promptly paid their bills, which left the imposing sum of eight dollars and forty cents.

"Something will turn up," she murmured. If you willed it as hard as she did, it had to.

Proposal

"It's fun but I refuse to accept this as our last party with Cecily," Jean Tuthill said, yawning. "And I suggest that we call it a day and get it in October. I've got to get the Chronicle's newstands at the usual hour tomorrow."

They all laughed. Jean's job was a great joke to all of them but Jean.

"You take me seriously, don't you, Cecily?" Cecily said. "And when you get any news that I might use in the society page about the goings-on at Vicksburg, will you send me every item?"

Cecily, unable to foresee what far-reaching consequences that promise lightly made was to bring about, agreed to it.

Then she said, "Do you mind if I slip out without any fanfare? I guess I must be getting sentimental but I hate goodbyes."

Ted Pryor said he minded and when she stood in the door and waved, he stood gallantly, lifting her hand a little as she was learning to do too often now, he got his hat.

The Pryor purse had been nearly depleted with his share of the party and so they rode up Fifth Avenue in the early morning on top of a Fifth Avenue bus.

Hilda's now job with an advertising agency when Ted cleared his throat and said, "Cecily, I'm not getting much money yet but I'll get a raise as soon as business picks up and if you'd... that is... you might think of it. I mean I'd think it was swell if you'd marry me."

"Ted!" Cecily couldn't think of much more to say. Ted wasn't in love with her, she knew, but they got along. She was deeply touched. No man had ever been in love with her. She hadn't known any men except those in her little group which was marked with a spirit of camaraderie rather than romance.

"Thanks, Ted," she said. "Okay. But if you ever need any money... that is, if you ever need any help you know the gang is..."

"I know," she said softly. She thought: I'm not poor! It was difficult not to think that she was. Her pride was so easily intermingled with her emotions during that time when her simple, protected world had collapsed about her. And she had thought that no one knew what she was feeling and thinking!

Sensitiveness that she didn't know she possessed made her aware immediately that Olivia's attitude toward her had changed as soon as she heard that Cecily was entirely without funds to maintain herself.

She had repeated her invitation at once. And as quickly as it had been graciously accepted, she fitted Cecily not into her family, but into her staff.

The only difference, Cecily thought, not ungratefully, was that Olivia's maid and Olivia's secretary were permitted to live their own lives, to have working hours within limits, and to receive wages.

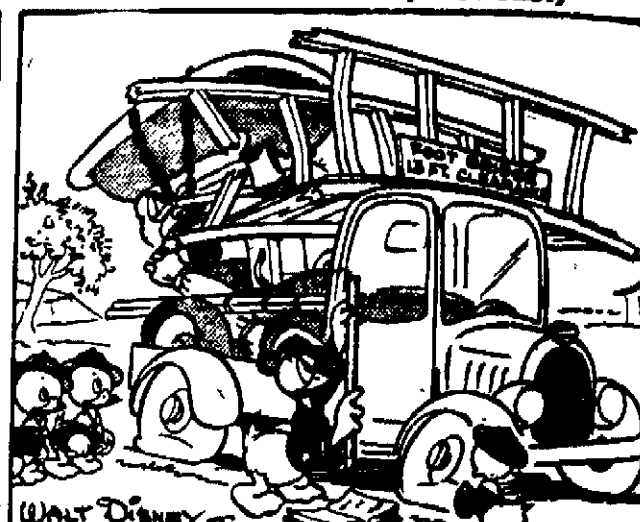

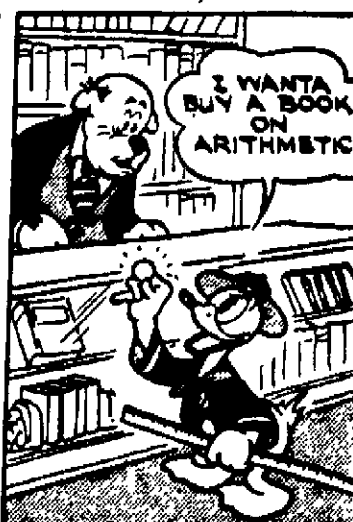

Cecily had found within two days that she was to enjoy none of these privileges. Nevertheless, she put the thought from her as being unworthy return for her aunt's kindness and decided that her conclusions were colored by pride.

Continued tomorrow.

Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)

Bang! Bang! Kansas City—Two men tried to hold up Max Walter's drug store but all they got was two doors slammed in their faces.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter were locking up when the men poked revolvers at them. Walter jumped inside and closed the door. Mrs. Walter dashed to the entryway of their living quarters upstairs and slammed that door, too.

The holdupmen ran away. Oklahoma City—John Martin's dairy truck broke down. He got a second-hand ambulance to make his deliveries.

A highway patrolman yelled "Where you going, Bud?" "General Hospital," Martin replied.

"Follow me," the officer shouted and opened his siren. Before Martin could explain, they arrived at the hospital, where Martin delivered his milk.

Home Economics Chicago—Mrs. Rose Toleikis, 45, had a husband in her home at breakfast time.

At lunch she had no husband but a boarder—the same man! She obtained a divorce but her attorney told the court:

"There is a lease, it seems, running until fall. So Mr. Toleikis will remain as a boarder until the lease expires."

Early Rains Bring Cheer

Bismarck, N. D. (AP)—Dust Bowl? It's the "Grass Bowl" to North Dakota this year. Baset by less than normal rainfall totals for the past eight years, and with the memory of the 1934 and 1936 droughts still fresh, farmers were cheered by early summer rainfall far above normal.

Typical Teacher San Francisco (AP)—Mrs. Catherine D. Foy of Twin Buttes, Ariz., selected as the "most typical" one-room schoolhouse teacher, says she has no disciplinary problems with her varied pupils ranging from the first to eighth grade.

Woodstock Artists Open 20th Anniversary Show at Gallery

Woodstock, July 25.—The 20th anniversary exhibition of the Woodstock Artists Association which opened here Saturday will continue until August 6.

Works in the show are largely by artists whose efforts sustain the name of the colony as an important place in the art world and a few are by a group classed as new exhibitors.

The annual, generally rated as the outstanding exhibit of the season again fulfills that tradition and several of the artists are at their best in the show.

Frank London, who has been a consistent exhibitor of still life is represented with a fascinating canvas titled "Gaiety Parisienne." It is a lively in color than most of the artist's works, but toned down in its general effect. The arrangement includes a vase, flowers, draping stalks and vines and a musical instrument.

Charles Rosen has returned to a favorite spot and shows one of the outstanding landscapes titled "Eddyville." and Marianne Appel is represented with a large canvas in most effective detail which is numbered among the many pictures the artist brought back from Alaska. It is titled "Alaskan Landscape," and presents a panoramic view of a northland mountain village.

The charm of a pastoral spot is caught most effectively by Joseph Pollet in another landscape, which bears the simple title of "Landscapes," and Neil Ives appears at his best in another pastoral titled "Devon."

Walter Sarff shows another landscape showing the quarry across the Rondout creek from Kingston and geographically designated as "Mingo Hollow." The artist is also represented by another of his "Fanny" drawings titled, "Fanny and Bow."

Others who add to the predominating landscape effect of the show are: Florence Cramer with "Winter Landscape," Marko Vukovic, "Saugerties Waterfront," Lila Copeland, "Spring," Ruth Singer, "Three Horses," Natalie Arras Tepper, "Old Saw Mill at Shady," Charles Bolton, "The New Road," Austin Mecklem, "Vacation," Eugene Ludins, "Across the Road."

Among the few portraits is a large composition titled the figure of a negro by Jo Nichols, a self-portrait by John Nichols, titled "Painter," and effective work by Jane Jones; one by Christine Martin, which is of Mrs. Valdimir Padwa and titled "Portrait," and "Man With Diary" by Judson Smith. The one piece of sculpture joyed the meal which had been prepared by Mrs. Mabel Hasbrouck and Mrs. A. W. Williams.

Games of croquet, Chinese checkers and dominoes followed until darkness sent everyone home. At the business meeting Mrs. D. H. Starr presided and minutes and reports given by secretary, treasurer and sunshine chairman. Present for the afternoon of members and guests were: Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Feeter, Kingston; Mrs. Edward Starr, Miss Julia Starr, San Antonio, Texas; Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Sidel, Jr., Milwaukee, Wis.; Miss Belle Brinckerhoff, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champlin, Mrs. Charles Farnham, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Farnham, Frank Farnham, Mrs. Joseph Freston, Miss Laura Harcourt, Mrs. Mabel Hasbrouck, Mrs. Alfred Lane, Mr. and Mrs. A. Jerome Pratt, Miss Eliza Raymond, Mrs. Dora R. Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Rhodes, Mrs. Philip Schantz, Mrs. D. H. Starr, Mrs. Fred Lewis, Miss Julia Starr, Mrs. William Waterbury, Mrs. Franklin Welker, Mrs. A. W. Williams.

Mr. and Mrs. Egbert Van Wagner and daughter, Jan, of Irvington, N. J., spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. Hallock Mackey.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Tillson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Champlin and Mrs. Alfred Lane spent Friday in a motor trip that included Minnekahta, picnic lunch at Elleville and a call at the Richter camp in the Sandown Valley.

Mrs. Livingston Rhodes and Miss Gloria Rhodes returned Thursday evening from Lake Wanasink where they had spent more than two weeks.

Not being able to be present at his birthday on Wednesday, Harry Cotant, Jr., was greeted by friends on his arrival home Friday. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. John Parks, Mr. and Mrs. Martin Salomon, Miss Henrietta Woolsey and Richard Burton.

The Rev. and Mrs. William Sawyer and two sons drove up from their home at East Rutherford, N. J. on Sunday to Mrs. Sawyer's sister, Mrs. Richard Burton.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Coutant spent a couple days of last week on a trip to Niagara Falls.

Mrs. Beulah Thompson and son, Charles, were callers in New Hurley, Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Harriet Dayton of New Paltz called at her former home in this section Thursday afternoon.

Miss Ruth Palmer and guests, Ruth, James and David Lockwood, of Providence, Rhode Island, visited Lake Mohonk last week.

Douglas White is spending two weeks at the Y. M. C. A. camp near Middletown.

Mr. and Mrs. Russel Boice of Newburgh called on friends here Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Forham of Ossining were recent callers on Mrs. M. Augusta Johnston.

Frank P. Garow is spending several days in New York city.

Peter Ward of New York visited his mother, Mrs. Mary Ward, over the week-end.

Dr. and Mrs. W. Bush of Poughkeepsie called on Mr. and Mrs. William Nabor Sunday evening.

The Plattkill fire department was called to the boarding house of R. Rodriguez Sunday morning, where fire of unknown origin damaged the kitchen of the dwelling.

Mrs. M. Augusta Johnston was a visitor in New Paltz Sunday evening.

Filter Concern To Locate Here

would be able to pay off the cost of construction.

The proposed building should be centrally located with railroad facilities.

To Cut Expenses

Mr. Hanstein at the meeting yesterday said that the sole reason for the removal of the concern manufacturing filtering equipment to this city was to cut operating expenses. The concern has no labor troubles of any kind.

The plant would employ at least 40 skilled workmen at good wages, and would be a decided addition to the industrial life of the city.

If the concern does take over the F. & D. cigar factory it would have its general offices and plant in Kingston and maintain a sales office in New York city. The equipment now being turned out at the New York plant is in use in sections of the United States, South America and other parts of the world.

If the decision is finally made to take over the former cigar factory considerable changes will have to be made to the building to accommodate the needs of the new concern.

Mayor Heiselman said that the members of the industrial committee deserve great credit for filling up all of the empty available factory space in Kingston with small concerns. Some of the plants have been vacant for some time.

The mayor made it plain to the gathering that something must be done to provide additional space for factories employing men if the city was to survive as a community.

seen walking along the beach and his tracks led into the woods.

Residents, knowing the difficulty of searching the woods, agreed to stand the cost of bringing bloodhounds here from Lacrosse, Wis., and they were expected to arrive today.

Treacherous swamps in which the boy could easily lose his life dot the forest. Besides lack of food and possible inability to find water, the boy's endurance would be further weakened by the swarms of mosquitoes which plague woodsmen at night.

The anxiety of the relatives was heightened by the knowledge that several accidents have befallen children in the same region heretofore.

Poses were spurred on by recollection of the fate of four-year-old Harlan H. Ware, who disappeared, never to be seen again, in the swampy bog near Pine river in Cass county a year ago. Donald Fogel, 3, lived, however, through 24 hours of torturing mosquitoes in the woods near France last summer. A posse of 200 found the child.

pital, where physicians said his condition was critical.

Police said he had no known enemies.

Witnesses said the assailants drew abreast of Penn in a 1939 model car as he was walking from his home to a subway station.

One man jumped to the sidewalk, drew a revolver and started shooting. The other man remained at the wheel, also joined in the fusillade. Then they sped away, throwing a .38-calibre revolver onto the sidewalk.

The car was found abandoned a few blocks away with a second gun in it.

Schirick Signs Order

Allowing Church to Sell

An order granting permission for the New Hurley Reformed Church to sell a parcel of the parsonage land to the New Hurley Cemetery Association for $500 has been made by Justice Harry E. Schirick.

Application was made to the court for permission to sell the land after the congregation at the annual congregational meeting had voted in favor of the sale. Application is made by Nicholas Cocks, Edgar Evans of town of Shawangunk; Edward Powell and Wilson Edmunds of town of Plattekill; John Mackey of town of Gardiner and Gerow Schoonmaker and William Powell of town of Shawangunk. The Rev. Frank Bosh is moderator, Lee F. Harner, chairman, Crosby J. Wilkin, clerk, and John Mackey, treasurer.

The real property owned by the church is valued at $15,000 and there are debts and liabilities amounting to $2,000.

C. R. Bartlett is attorney for the petitioner.

Cooperation Appreciated

Editor The Freeman:

At the beginning of the park year Hutton found itself without a piano. Needing one for its community night program, the boys and girls went ahead and bought one from Winter's, and through the cooperation of the mothers and fathers who supplied cakes and bought sodas, they were able to pay for the piano. We take this opportunity to thank all those who have helped make our community nights a success.

Dies Singing Own Hymn

Eddyville, Ky., July 25 (AP)—Singing a hymn he composed in a death row cell—"The Lord Just Wants Somebody"—Edward Higgins, 26, negro rapist, walked firmly to his death in the electric chair at Western State Penitentiary early today. He was convicted May 12 at Harrodsburg by a jury which deliberated 20 minutes.

SUMMER PESTS: At The Office

TIE DOWN your desk! Sam, the office pest, is on the job. "Gee, Harry," says he, "we've got to have some of that breeze in here or we'll die!" Oh, sure, Sam, YOUR desk is out of the draft, YOUR work won't blow away. Fling it up! (Before we slap you down.)

SLU-URP! Here's another of Sam's hot-weather tricks; leaping his ice cream while the whole office stuffs its ears. He's even better with a straw and a bottle of pop, trying to get the last drop.

HE WHO GOT BURNED gets slapped. The slapper, of course, is our old friend Sam, who is the best old back-thumping pal—wally there ever was—when a fellow's all raw from the weekend's sun.

HE NEVER MISSES a chance. You're resigned to the heat, when you glance at Sam. Not content to loiter, puffing, he drags out a fan to make sure you know it's hot.

HEROINE OF BOAT MISHAP ON SOUND

Mrs. Elizabeth Mason (third from left) of Washington, D. Her companions, shown here with Mrs. Mason, are Mr. and Mrs. Edward R. Sammis, at left, and Mrs. Robert M. Daley, all of New York.

300 SPECTATORS FAINT AT MASS WEDDING

An unlooked-for feature of a mass wedding of 105 couples (part of them shown above) before 20,000 spectators in a Montreal baseball stadium was the prostration of some 300 of the onlookers. Heat, excitement and too much picnic food were blamed for the symptoms of cramps, fainting and dizzy spells. Only eight of the victims remained in hospitals over night.

at which time Dr. Hollis Ingraham of the New York State Public Health Department gave an interesting talk on public health work. Two talking movies, "The Public Health Nurse" and "Public Health Services" were shown. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served by the Grange committee.

Mrs. Phoebe Lawrence spent the week-end in Kingston.

Mrs. De Castro, who has been spending a week at Claverack, has returned home.

The annual Millbrook picnic will be held in Millbrook Grove on Wednesday, August 9.

Frog Story That Ticks

Norristown, Pa., July 25 (AP)—This is a frog story that has most fish stories beat by four legs and 12 hours: Mrs. Jane McLaughlin's wrist watch slipped through a crack in a bath house floor. An attendant fished for it, but a bullfrog got there first. Mrs. McLaughlin's six-year-old nephew, Frank Supplee, wriggled under the bath house until he heard ticks instead of croaks. He crawled and killed the frog. An autopsy was performed. There was the watch.

Roosevelt Goes Back to Capital

Enroute to Washington, July 25 (AP)—President Roosevelt started back to Washington by special train today to check up on the administration's multi-billion dollar lending bill and the program Congress is making toward adjustment.

Before leaving his home at Hyde Park, N. Y., last night he sent word to the congressional majority leaders, Senator Barkley (D., Ky.) and Rep. Rayburn (D., Texas), to drop in at the White House today and report on legislative conditions.

The President hoped they could tell him the lending bill would be out of the way and the legislators ready to call it quits for the session by the end of next week. He had worked out a schedule calling for his return to Hyde Park immediately after adjournment, acting there on bills passed in the usual last-minute congressional rush, and then a cool week's cruise off the New England and Canadian coasts.

While Mr. Roosevelt's plans for the immediate future were fairly definite, those for 1940 remained as much a mystery as ever.

At a press conference in a hay field on his Hyde Park estate, Chief Executive virtually challenged reporters to make something out of his entirely general remarks about a week-end conference with National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley.

Farley stood beside him and neither said a word about third term possibilities or next year's political campaign.

Health Insurance Subject of Talk

never be paid for individually. Two alternatives are offered, health insurance and taxation. He recommended the former, although he indicated that the latter, as socialized medicine, might be the ultimate solution.

Health insurance is practiced today in 40 countries, Dr. Kingsbury said, but he warned against a form of "medical indemnity insurance" which the "American Medical Association is trying to put over on you now." Such a system has proved unsuccessful in France, he stated.

Frederic Snyder, local writer and lecturer, was another speaker at the meeting. He pointed out that public health is so important a subject that in the present Sino-Japanese war, the soldiers on both sides are fighting to protect each other from the ravages of diseases, while at the same time fighting each other with bullets and bombs.

Mr. Snyder, who termed Dr. Kingsbury an "apostle of good health," gave as his definition of health, the following which, he said, can be understood in all languages:

"Health is life, as it ought to be."

Local Prelim Boxers on Friday's Card Are Ready for Action

Cappy, Caprotti Set for Matches At the Auditorium

Kingston Fighters Selling Tickets to Determine Popularity—Zano, Greb Meet Tough Opponents

Kingston boxing fans are in for an evening of sensational fights, Friday, as far as the local boys are concerned, according to Sammy Offerman, ex-belter, who is managing Pete Cappy and Jess Caprotti, the two Kingston scrappers matched to duel on the bill featuring two star eight round bouts.

In the double main attraction, Tommy Zano, popular Glasco welterweight, who won his two fights at the auditorium, to date, in colorful fashion, will box Irish Johnny Smith, Boston power puncher, and Tony Greb, hard-hitting New Yorker, will fight it out with Ernie "Cat" Robinson, the "Joe Louis" of the welterweights from the metropolis.

Pete Cappy, the Kingston lightweight with a Billy Conn left jab, is in the pink for his set to with Frankie Ralo of Texas, Offerman says. "Cappy is ready right now, and could fight tonight," the former pro star said this morning. "I've been working him every day since his win over Frankie Ralo, and look for him to make it No. 2, this night."

Jess Caprotti, a brother of Cappy, works out with him at the Y. M. C. A. gym, under Offerman's tutelage, and he too is in shape for his match with Charlie Roberts, who is expected to give the local boy plenty of trouble for his first four rounder in the professional ranks.

In quining about Pete Cappy, Offerman opined, "He has one of the best left jabs I've ever seen for a youngster with his experience, and within a year he'll be ready to give local fans the same type of fight as Vinny Vines and Tommy Zano."

Vines and Zano both started in Kingston, and under the direction of Ray Arce, noted trainer, have been making names for themselves in the ring. An authority on boxing as Barney Ross, ex-welter champ, classes Vines as the boy who'll once possess the crown.

"Cappy did exceptionally well against Savia," Offerman told a boxing writer, "but didn't show enough of that right hand. He'll be in no against Ralo, Friday, because I've been making him work on right crosses in the gym."

The two local boxers, Cappy and Caprotti, are selling tickets for the fights, and hope that their friends will buy from them instead of waiting for the box office to open because it's the policy of clubs now to require fighters to sell tickets to their popularity may be determined in matching men for future bouts.

Friday's two features, showing Tommy Zano and Tony Greb, the two who gave Vines a tough battle last week, are expected to be anything but a walkover here in the way of action.

Zano, who meets Irish Johnny Smith, pummeled Stanley Miller into submission before their fight went the route, and Greb, paired with Ernie Robinson, will have a tough assignment as he did with Vines, the Schenectady star who got up off the floor to win a decision.

The popular Marty Servo (Severino) will box Lloyd Lasky, New York east side idol, in a five round, and the other four frame will be between Paul Trinkle Brooklyn and Joey LaGuardia Highland. LaGuardia, a hard puncher, who is as rough and tough as prelin boys come, beat Suto of Yonkers on July 14.

A new price scale has been opted, and the general admission Friday will be the same as at charged for the past two and half years during the amateur hits.

Collegiates on The All-Star List
Chicago, July 23 (AP)—The New York Giants, rulers of the professional football world, have a date with 69 top-flight college stars the night of August 30 and it looks anything but a pleasant assignment.

The roster of college seniors seeded in a 10,916,366-vote poll conducted by more than 300 newspapers and radio stations reads like who's-who of the 1938 season. The starting lineup of the All-stars was automatically determined by the most popular players in the respective positions getting spots for the kickoff. The pros have one, the college boys two and ended in the games.

avoy O'Brien, Texas Christian's superlative quarterback, led 1,204,516 votes to take the general's assignment by a margin.

Movie Camera Shows Reason For Those Vander Meer Walks

JOHNNY VANDER MEER: Let's go too soon

(By The AP Feature Service)

Cincinnati—More and more penitent-minded as the season progresses, the Cincinnati Reds' High Command have "gone to the movies" to detect what apparently has been Johnny Vander Meer's major pitching weakness. And they think they've found it.

Non-plussed by the young fireballer's too-frequent hair's breath failure to get the ball over the plate, Manager Bill McKechnie and Coach Hank Gowdy set up a movie camera along the first-base line to record Vandy's port-side delivery. Yards of film were used. Developed, they showed that the pitcher let go of the ball at a moment when his swing was at its greatest arc—in other words, too far out of line with the plate.

"He should let loose of the ball more 'in front,'" explained McKechnie.

The young Dutchman was amenable and since has spent hours almost behind closed doors under the tutelage of Coach Jimmy Wilson.

The Reds, who will need the best that Johnny can offer if they are to hit the September jackpot, believe he will come through. Their faith is the more certain because even in games he has lost, he has been uniformly stingy with hits. His greatest trouble has been a sometimes fatal liberality with walks.

Through most of this season, he has been the National League's "strikeout king"—but recently, his total of passes equaled his record of whiffs.

"That shouldn't be," commented McKechnie—and several hundred thousand rabid Red rooters agreed.

MAJOR LEAGUE ROUNDUP

(By The Associated Press)

It's hard to see any way to keep the current major league leaders from improving their positions during their home stands which get under way today, but, by way of warning, a couple of visiting teams from other sections may be red hot.

New York's mighty Yankees and Cincinnati's Reds looked practically invincible on their recent road tours. The Yankees won nine out of 12 games to even up their six-straight losing streak. They not only showed all their usual batting power, but had so much good pitching that Manager Joe McCarthy was hard put to give his moundsmen more than one work-out a week.

The Reds didn't hit so hard, but they didn't have to with the kind of flinging they got from Paul Derringer, Bucky Walters, Whitey Moore and Co.

And its axiomatic in baseball that any team should be able to do better in familiar surroundings than it can while traveling from one strange park to another.

So much for the leaders, but how about such contenders as the Chicago White Sox, Boston Bees (and don't laugh) the New York Giants? Only the pale hose are in position to bid for the lead, but they're all in good spots to cause trouble.

Good Pitchers

The White Sox open at Boston today with a doubleheader against the second-place Red Sox. The Boston won nine games and lost five in the west and they just about had to in order to keep their three-game margin over the Chicagoans. The White Sox, who have climbed from fifth place on July 1 into third with 18 victories in

Indies, Rangers Clash Tonight

Tonight at 6:30 the Independents and Boiceville have it out in a City League diamond duel at the athletic field.

With either Tom McManus or Red Lane twirling for the Rangers outfit, the Indies should encounter trouble. McManus, particularly, has bothered the heavy hitting Powerhouse considerably. The Rangers lanky left-hander's slow shoots raised havoc with the overladen southpaw slugging array in the first round fray. Bud Swarthroat will probably go against the Rangers with Bush in reserve.

Dropping a series of tough ones to the Indies, the Rangers are out to finally take over the Powerhouse tonight. There'll be plenty of joy out there at the Boiceville general store if Lou's crew take over the high-stepping Indies.

Twilight Schedule
Tonight—Independents vs. Boiceville.
Wednesday—Open date.
Thursday—Wiltwycks vs. Gruenewalds.
Friday—Jones Dairy vs. Boiceville.

Next Week
Monday—Boiceville vs. Wiltwycks (replay of Tuesday, July 18, 7-7 tie game).
Tuesday—Independents vs. Gruenewalds.
Wednesday—Jones Dairy vs. Independents.
Friday—Jones Dairy vs. Wiltwycks.

Sykes, Father and Sons Leave Today On Big Game Hunt

Howard C. Sykes, former president of the New York Curb Exchange, who has a home east of Accord, on Route 209, with a recently erected hunting trophy museum, was to leave today on an extended hunting trip in British Columbia and Alberta, according to a statement in an illustrated special story in Monday's Herald Tribune.

Mr. Sykes will be accompanied by his two sons, Walter H. Sykes, 3d, and Howard C. Sykes, Jr. They will collect specimens and make a study of the mountain sheep habitat groups for the New England Museum of Natural History, Boston.

It is stated that the party will fly from the coast to Telegraph Creek, British Columbia, and then by pack train for 500 miles or more, their train to include more than 100 horses.

Walter, 28, and Howard, 16, have shot all kinds of big game, accompanying their father on a hunting trip to Africa two years ago. At that time Howard shot a lion which measured 11 feet, 7 1/2 inches and was a world's record for size.

Local Rifle Club Loses Match Here

The Highland Falls Rifle Club recently defeated the Kingston team at the local range, 1926-1922, and on Sunday, July 30, will travel to Peekskill to shoot in the fourth match of the Mid-Hudson Rifle League.

Individual scores of the match with Highland Falls follow: Highland Falls—Treacy, 393; Bough, 383; Jenkinson, 385; Jeheber, 382; DeYoung, 378—Total 1926.

Kingston—A. Hoyt, 394; R. Green, 388; H. Carnright, 385; R. Schroeder, 381; K. Brown, 374—Total 1922.

Large Skeet Entry
Skeet's greatest year since the sport was officially launched in 1926 will come to a focus in the fifth national skeet championships scheduled for August 8-12 at the Pacific Rod and Gun Club in San Francisco. Based on advance entries, Henry Ahlin, president of the National Skeet Shooting Association, predicts a field of 300 crack shots, the largest entry in the history of the sport.

How To Shoot Skeet
(NINTH IN A SERIES)
The "finch" when the gun goes off is the bane of all beginners. One way to be sure of finching is to follow the bird a long distance with the sights of the gun. To curb finching, shoot the instant the stock touches shoulder and cheek.

Speed in skeet shooting, so that you are breaking the birds about over the center stake, should be cultivated on a number of counts. The pattern of the shot group is best at this distance. You do not have to change your timing for doubles because you shoot singles in the same timing as the first bird in doubles. You break the bird before the wind affects its flight. Finally you avoid finching.

Failure to concentrate is the chief weakness of the average skeet shooter. When you step to the firing line forget everything but your next shot. Visualize the line of the bird's flight and decide where you will get him. Make one practice swing—no more than one—from your ready position to the breaking point, then resume the ready position and call for the bird.

The Army has learned that the best way to teach men to shoot is

Softball Notes

FEDERATION LEAGUE

Scott Vining brought his ball tossers over from Port Ewen to meet the Redeemer team for the second time this year and went home with the bacon again. The Port Ewen team defeated the Redeemers in the first half play of the Federation League and repeated again last evening at Barnmann Park. Not only did Port Ewen defeat the Redeemers by a score of 12 to 7, but they eliminated the Redeemers as the second half possible champions. Until last evening Redeemers had lost but one game in the second half.

Fair Street leads the league with no losses and with but one more game to play, with Redeemers next week. Had Redeemers won their remaining games and defeated Fair Street next week they could have tied. The defeat last evening put them out of the running even though they defeat Ted Young's team on August 2.

Following is the schedule for the remaining games: Tuesday: Presbyterians vs. Ulster Park at Hasbrouck Park; Clinton Avenue vs. Congregational armory. Wednesday: Presbyterians vs. Albany Avenue Baptist; Hasbrouck Park; Thursday: Trinity Lutheran vs. Redeemer; Hasbrouck Park; Presbyterians vs. Hurley, at armory. Friday: Port Ewen vs. Ulster Park at Hasbrouck Park; Monday, July 31: St. James vs. Redeemer at Hasbrouck Park; Trinity Lutheran vs. Port Ewen at armory; Albany Avenue Baptist vs. Ulster Park at Barnmann. Tuesday, August 1: Albany Avenue Baptist vs. Hurley at Hasbrouck; Presbyterians vs. Congregational at armory. Wednesday, August 2: Fair Street vs. Redeemer at armory; St. James vs. Port Ewen at Hasbrouck Park; Thursday, August 3: Trinity Lutheran vs. Ulster Park at Hasbrouck Park.

A. C. W. A., 20-10
In one of the wildest games of the season, of the Closed Division, City Softball League, the A. C. W. A. ran away from the N. Y. A. mousers, 20-10, last night at Block Park.

Manager Artie Golnek of the Union Boys reported 10 runs for his tossers in the first two innings, which gave them a lead the N. Y. A. mousers couldn't match.

Milly Berardi and "Dutch" Norstrom cracked out homers for the A. C. W. A. club with runners aboard to help produce the victory. Berardi and Wilbur Hoffay led the batters with three hits out of four tries.

Score by innings:
A. C. W. A. . . . 553 403 0-20 22 3
N. Y. A. . . . 044 011 0-10 12 5

Batteries—A. C. W. A., M. Berardi, pitcher; Madden and Lewis, catchers; N. Y. A., Dart, pitcher; White, catcher.

Frocksers Win 4-3
Last night at Loughran Park, the Country Club Frocks scored a 4-3 decision over the Canfields in the Industrial Division of the City Softball League, the battle going into an extra inning.

Score by innings: R H E
Canfields . . . 01200000-3 7 2
Frocks . . . 02000011-4 12 5

Batteries: Canfields, Rice and Rowe; Country Club Frocks, DeCicco and Woods.

Hits: Two base, Ferraro, Woods, Van Buren 2. Three base, Finkle.

Lunch Mousers Victorious 9 to 8

The exhibition softball game, Monday night at Block Park, between the Central Hudsons and Charlie Senor's S & S Lunchers was won by the Hamburger Makers, 9-8, when Hofstadter featured with a homer and Jimmy Forgy hit four times out of as many tries to account for the winning runs.

Batteries were Charlie Senor and Weill for the Lunchers and Doyle and Terwilliger for the Central.

Tennis Blanks Are Ready for Annual City Tournament

The annual men's and women's tennis tournament will start on Tuesday, August 1, the Kingston Recreation Department announced today, stating that blanks for entry may be obtained at the courts in Hasbrouck and Forsyth Parks all week.

It is the desire of the department to make the tennis tourney one of the biggest events of the season, and all racket wielders are urged to sign up for competition. Drawings will be made next Monday at Forsyth Park for the opening matches and those of the following day.

The fee to enter is the same as last summer, fifty cents, and the money taken in will be used to buy trophies for the winners in the men's and women's divisions. Tennis is becoming a very popular sport, as means of recreation, the playgrounds officials say, and if interest keeps increasing, as more courts are built, there will be a woman's and mixed doubled tournament.

School Boys Lead Public Links Play

Mount Pleasant Golf Course, Baltimore, July 25 (AP)—Two school boys from Seattle and Atlanta led the field into the second qualifying round of the National Public Links Golf Championship played by 64 by dusk tonight.

Eighteen-year-old Gerry Bert, Jr., 206-pound Pacific northwest Adonis, banged out a sub-par 70 yesterday on the 6,885-yard layout despite tropical heat and humidity that had the pack gasping like beached fish, canyon-deep traps and narrow fairways lined with rough tangled like a hermit's whiskers.

A stroke behind, and playing brilliantly, was lanky Luke Barnes, 19, of Atlanta, the only other contestant to crack par on this stroke-eating, woe-stricken links. Bert's 70, compact of three birdie, one buzzard that descended on his card when he topped a No. 4 wood, and 14 pars, set a new competitive record for the lengthened course.

Four of the field managed to equal par figures. They were Mike Gestone, 35-year-old Montclair, N. J., postman, Don Erickson, Los Angeles, Ralph A. Reed, Lincoln, Neb., and Arthur Armstrong, who came 5,000 miles from Hawaii for the pay-as-you-play classic.

Two base hits—Mellert, Cohn, Golnek, Brodhead, M. Berardi. Three base hit—Hoffay. Umpire, Tom Coughlin.

KELLY'S CORNER • By JOE KELLY

Want Speed! Start Chasing Bugs—Boxers Must Sell Tickets Now

If you want to be a speed demon, start chasing beetles. . . . That's what Reed Murphy, star runner of the Kingston Recreation team does. . . . Murphy came here with the "bug gang" from the U. S. Department of Agriculture. . . . Credit Eddie Noonan with finding him. . . . Eddie, one of the Kingston youths on the government project, palling with Murphy, found that he ran for Yule and talked him into entering the meet. . . . Was Sid Lutzing glad to welcome him! . . . Benny Bell, coach of the Recs. . . . Incidentally, Bell deserves a bouquet. . . . It was he who assembled the first Kingston track team that represented this city in the A. A. U. . . . He took his club, the Kingston A. C., upstate last season for several meets, thus creating the first interest in track and field sports locally outside of high school competition. . . . Ben was a strong rooter for this division of athletics when he attended K. H. S. . . . Nine employees of the Central Hudson here are entered in the company's golf championship play tomorrow at Poughkeepsie. . . . They are A. L. Colligan, district manager, J.

W. Gleason, A. W. Buddenhagen, Walt May, W. D. Nickles, L. Mayo, A. P. Nash, G. Bush, and H. L. Winter. . . . Ed Strong, another Kingstonian, is in the meet, but represents the Poughkeepsie division. . . . There are 76 C. H. workers listed for competition.

Local boxers on the professional card at the municipal auditorium, from now on, must sell tickets to prove their popularity. . . . Sammy Offerman, manager of Pete Cappy and Jess Caprotti, is sending his two leather pushers out today with pasteboards for Friday's card. . . . Both of them are scheduled to box. . . . Friends of these kids intending to patronize the fistic show will help them a lot by buying from them instead of waiting until they get to the box office. . . . They can be reached by phone at Schippl's Restaurant, where Pete Cappy is the chief spaghetti chef. . . . Telegrams are pouring in for Vinny Vines and Tommy Zano from upstate promoters, who read about their sensational matches in Kingston. . . . This means the two boys who started here as amateurs, and are now doing well in the money division, are THE FIGHTERS WHO FIGHT. . . . And, the old Colonial City, is receiving its share of good publicity too. . . . That base stealing habit our contemporary scribe, C. J. T., learned on the baseball is cropping out in a romantic way. . . . And, do we have to watch our girl friend! . . . Entries for the annual men's and women's tennis tournament of Kingston are being handed out at Hasbrouck and Forsyth Park courts. . . . This sports event is expected to be one of the most popular activities of the summer season.

Tournesa Is Not In State Tourney

New York, July 25 (AP)—Willie Tournesa will not be on hand to defend his title when the New York state amateur golf championship begins at the Sivanoy Club in suburban Bronxville tomorrow, but there will be plenty of good golfers shooting for the title.

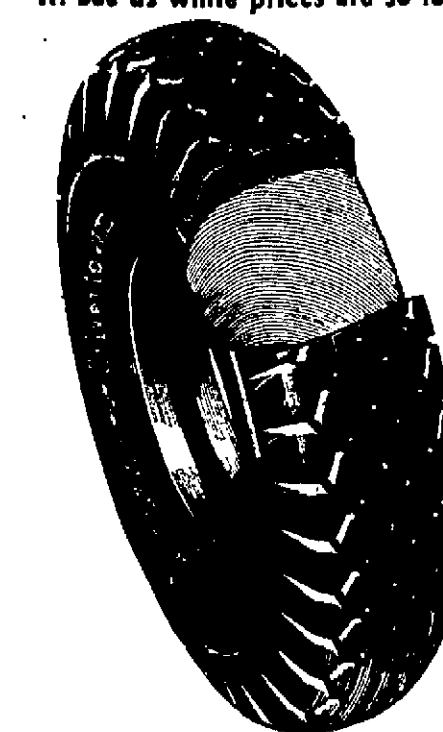

Competing for the crown will be Bill Holt of Syracuse, semifinalist in the British amateur this year; Dick Chapman of Greenwich, Conn., the French champion; Robert Sweeney, former British champion; Ray Billows of Poughkeepsie and Tommy Goodwin, former state champs, and Tommy Teller, former metropolitan titleholder.

The 18-hole qualifying round will be played tomorrow with double rounds of match play Thursday and Friday leading to a 36-hole final Saturday.

New York—Yucatan Kid, 139 1/2, Mexico City, outpointed Pete Galiano, 139 1/2, Baltimore (8). Leonard Del Genio, 145, New York, stopped Bobby Masters, 147 1/2, Philadelphia (6).

How New Yorkers 'Beat' Cigarette Tax

With New York state's new 2c tax per package shooting cigarette prices to a record high, many motorists such as this one have taken to buying their "smokes" in New Jersey, just across the river from Manhattan. This commuter is buying a couple of cartons from Evelyn Berkowitz at her roadside near the George Washington bridge. Popular brands in New York city cost 17c, which includes the old city 1c tax.

SECRECY SURROUNDS FDR-FARLEY TALK

A conference between President Roosevelt and National Democratic Chairman James A. Farley—shown together at Hyde Park, N. Y., after it was over—ended in an atmosphere of secrecy. It left unanswered ticklish political questions about a third term, the 1940 campaign and the personal relationship of the heads of the Democratic party. Farley, about to sail for Europe, parted from the president with: "Goodbye, Boss. I'll keep in touch with you."

ROOSEVELT LIBRARY WILL LOOK LIKE THIS

This is the architect's drawing for the library which will house more than 6,000,000 of President Roosevelt's official documents and manuscripts on the Roosevelt estate at Hyde Park, N. Y. Of Dutch colonial design, to be built of fieldstone, the library will be financed by private subscription. Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt have signed a deed giving the government title to 12 acres on which the building will stand.

Two Foreign Influences

Marked Early Americas

Most of the coast lines of North and South America had been touched or sighted by European explorers before the end of the Sixteenth century and many pushed back from the shores to investigate the country beyond the horizon.

By the middle of the Seventeenth century the spheres of European influence on the two continents had been temporarily determined. The Latin races controlled the southern continent, the lower part of the northern continent, and had extended their rule far up the West coast, writes Colton Storm in "American Collector."

English, Dutch and Swedish settlements dominated the eastern seaboard from Florida to Maine, and the French had plunged inland from their slight Canadian shore.

Although the fishers of Brittany had discovered the rich banks off Newfoundland as early as 1504 (and possibly earlier), there was no official attempt on the part of the French to explore the New World until 1524. Then, under the patronage of Francis I, Giovanni da Verrazano sailed west for the East Indies.

His voyage was not the commercial success he and the king had expected. The earliest extant printed record of his exploits appears in Giovanni Battista Ramusio's hodge-podge compilation of early adventures, entitled Delle navigationi et viaggi, published at Venice, 1550-1559, in three folio volumes.

Like Columbus' famous letter, Verrazano's rough account was originally a letter or report addressed to his royal patron. The original letter in Verrazano's hand has been lost, but there are at least two contemporary copies, both in Italian translations.

"30,000 MILES?"

Own a Ford V-8 and there are two things you can bank on. It'll take you lots of miles. And it'll be careful of your money all the way. Just as important as a Ford V-8's fine-car "features" is its record... written on the road by owners like the 3 quoted here. Whether you buy your next car new or used, you can be sure you've spent your money wisely if you put it in a Ford V-8!

that's just a good beginning for a FORD V-8!

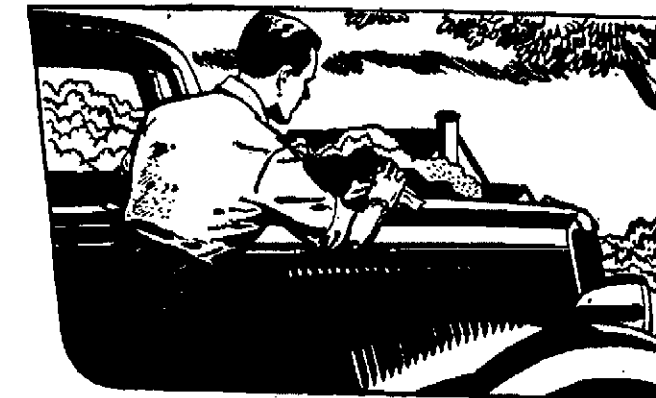

"IN THE 20,000 MILES I've driven my Ford V-8, I've had my oil changed 20 times—and that's all. Not a drop has been added between drains. I've owned other cars, but never one that made my motoring dollar go as far..."

—JOHN K. ELLIOTT

"THE CAR HAS 54,500 miles and I am getting 17 miles per gallon... carrying an average load of 1200 pounds all the time. There has been no major repair done on the car—in fact, only one complete tune up..."

—CLARENCE KOEPEKE

"I HAVE DRIVEN (1934 Ford V-8) 60,000 miles... and have not yet had any major repairs; not even new rings or a valve grinding. I still get 18 miles to a gallon of gasoline... the Ford V-8 engine makes me dissatisfied with any other car in this price class..."

—JAMES W. BURNES

For low-cost transportation at its best—now as always!
